NOTED MEMORY EXPERT ENTERTAINS ROTARIANS

David M. Roth, author of the famous Roth's Memory Course, Thursday night demonstrated for the Torrance Rotary Club that a good memory is a matter of training the mind to do what it is told to do, when it is told to do it.

The nation's foremost exponent of a good memory amazed the Rotarians with his almost magical ability to remember names, numbers, faces, and even an entire issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Introduced and assisted by Jack Dabbs, pinch-hitting as program chairman for R. L. Plomert, Roth made a round of the audience of nearly 45 men and called each of the men by his first name. He would repeat the number on dollar bills after hearing the numbers read but once. He called any one of a series of 15 numbers written on a blackboard. From a page number called from the audience the noted lecturer, teacher, and entertainer would describe what was on that page in a recent issue of Post Magazine.

The well-known memory expert is scheduled to make another, possibly two other local appearances within the near future. On November 20 he will appear at the Torrance Kiwanis Club. Program for the evening which is "Ladies Night" is being arranged by Hank Ulbright. John Steinbaugh, president of the Rotary Club and principal of Torrance High School, is attempting to arrange for a demonstration for students at the local high school.

National Supply Employee Passes In Los Angeles

Torrance's Masonic Lodge No. 447 conducted the last rites Tuesday for George L. Shepard, 52, of 1764 Andreo avenue, who died last Saturday in Los Angeles.

A native of Oceanside, Calif., he was an employee of National Supply.

Interment in Green Hills Memorial Park followed the services which were held in the Stone and Myers Chapel Tuesday afternoon. The local Masonic Lodge also conducted the graveside rites.

Surviving are his widow, Carol Leigh Shepard of Torrance, and two brothers, Joseph of Wasco, Calif., and Charles of Texas.

Acting as pallbearers for the veteran of World War I were J. Montgomery, C. McKobe, J. Hardin, F. Cook, R. Proctor and J. Hedgecock. Soloist was Leonard Babcock.

Contractors Estimate Sewer Completion Date

December 22 was the date estimated by Carl E. Arnold in charge of the sewer construction job on 220th street, as the time for completion of the work, according to a recent statement from the office of Supervisor Raymond V. Darby. Cost of the project will be $9,396 according to the contractors Bebek and Brlich.

Eastern Star Rites For Walteria Mother

Eastern Star services were held at 2 p.m. last Friday for Mrs. Anne Taylor, 79, of 3736 Newton street, in the Stone and Myers chapel. Leonard Babcock and the Torrance chapter of the Eastern Star conducted the final rites.

Mrs. Taylor died at her home in Walteria Monday, November 6. Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Mae Jones, of the Newton street address; and one son, David L. Edwards, of Los Angeles.

Burial was in Green Hills Memorial Park.

City To Get $2863 Liquor License Fees

Torrance's share of the liquor license fee earnings for the period ending August 31 will amount to $2,863, according to William G. Bonelli, a member of the State Board of Equalization.
